

R'CLUB CHILD CARE, INC. TRAINING DEPARTMENT PRESENTS

Creative Movement: This Isn't Your Mama's Gym Class!

Surprise! No two children are the same. Some have so much energy they could run for hours, while others are content sitting for just as long. So how can we encourage our sitters to move more and our runners to use their energy in a way that gives them physical freedom within boundaries? Come find out at "Creative Movement: This Isn't Your Mama's Gym Class!" Much like disguising vegetables to get your children to eat them, we will sneak more movement into your daily programming. Together we will discuss the benefits of physical activity, how directing children's energy in a positive way can reduce challenging behaviors, and engage in activities that you can bring back to your program and begin using immediately!

MEET OUR TRAINERS

MaryGrace Califano, has been a Behavior Specialist with R'Club since 2016. She works closely with staff to provide training and guidance when working with children and families who may need additional support. Prior to joining the R'Club training team, MaryGrace worked as a school-age educator in New York. She holds a BA in theatre, a NYS School-Age Care Credential, and was a NYS Level 2 Credentialed Professional Development Specialist Trainer. MaryGrace has worked in the childcare field since 2002. She has trained at the NYS Network for Youth Success annual conference and was an endorser for After School Accreditation in New York. MaryGrace trains in various areas that support best practice and quality childcare, but specializes in recognizing and reporting child abuse and neglect, understanding challenging behavior, using positive guidance, and self-awareness when interacting with others.

Marshall Lester, Jr., Training Resource Coordinator has been employed with R'Club since 1996. Marshall welcomes new staff to the agency and provides orientation, training, support and technical assistance to new Child Development Specialists. Marshall also provides training on customer service, preventing sexual harassment in the workplace, and other workplace issues for all agency staff. Marshall is involved in training child care workers throughout the community and has presented at the Florida After School Alliance Conference and the annual School Age Summer's Coming Conference in Pinellas County. He is a Board member of COQEBS (Concerned Organization for Quality Education of Black Students) and, prior to joining the R'Club team, Marshall worked for Pinellas County schools for 16 years as a Health and Physical Education teacher.
